

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a device for binding brochures, and is in the field of apparatus and processes for binding brochures with wire binding elements having variable characteristics, and for making such elements. According to various aspects of the invention, apparatus and methods are provided for making wire binding elements with variable characteristics.

FOIA b 7 - 24660